Teaching Philosophy

I have guided fellow educators and students in the enchanting realm of Painting, Drawing, modeling, and many other mediums, fostering an appreciation for aesthetics and world art. My main aim was to generate interest in art among young pupils and provide a comfortable environment for their creative outbursts. Anthroposophy and Waldorf curriculum helped me extend this approach in a more effective way, where the importance was given more to the process than the final outcome. My teaching philosophy revolves around nurturing creativity and self-discovery in young artists, a
